

Lesson 53

Teacher Instructions

Read the words in bold out loud to your learner.

(point to dge) These letters, d, g, and e, work together to make the sound dge.

You hear the dge sound at the end of the word edge. Say the dge sound three times: dge, dge, dge

(point to the dge each time)

(point to nge) These letters, n, g, and e, work together to make the sound nge.

You hear the nge sound at the end of the word lunge. Say the nge sound three times: nge, nge, nge

(point to the nge each time)

(point to nce) These letters, n, c, and e, work together to make the sound nce.

You hear the nce sound at the end of the word dance. Say the nce sound three times: nce, nce, nce

(point to the nce each time)

(point to nse) These letters, n, s, and e, work together to make the sound nse.

You hear the nse sound at the end of the word rinse. Say the nse sound three times: nse, nse, nse

(point to the nse each time)

Practice reading these words. Point to each word as you read it.

---

Point to each word as you read the sentences.

---

(point to one) This word breaks the rules because, the letter o doesn't make its usual sound like in octopus. Instead, it makes the w sound, like in wood. The letter e is silent. You don't say it, but it's there. Say one. One. One. One. (point to the word)

(point to once)

This word breaks the rules in three ways:

1. The letter o makes the w sound, just like the first sound in wood.
2. The letter c makes the s sound, like the first sound in snow.
3. The letter e is silent. You don't say it, but it's there.

Say once. Once. Once. Once. (point to the word)

Now read both words again: one, once.

After the Lesson:

Read a book aloud to your learner.

Point to each word as you read.
